We respectfully present the citizens of Hamilton with a New Edition of the Directory of the City of Hamilton and County of Wentworth, being the third compiled by Mr. James Sutherland.

In preparing this edition, the compiler has been careful to meet, as far as possible, the wants of all classes of the community, and, with this end in view, in addition to the usual Alphabetical List of the inhabitants, he has given a full and faithful Business Directory,—an introductory article, giving a sketch of the Great Western Railway Works, the officers of the several societies and institutions in the city, names of farmers in the county of Wentworth, the names of residents in the towns and villages, brief notices of manufacturing establishments, and historical sketches of the churches of all denominations here—the whole accompanied by maps of the city and county, autographed expressly for this edition of the Directory.

In referring to the Alphabetical List, it will be seen the city is gaining in population; and, for the information of the reader, a summary of names of householders in the Directory is given, which will, when compared with the number published last year, show an addition of about three hundred and fifty, or, presuming each householder to represent five individuals, an increase in population of near eighteen hundred.

INTRODUCTION.

Hamilton is beautifully situated on the south-western curve of Burlington Bay, and occupies a delightful position on a plateau of slightly elevated ground winding around the base of the mountain.

With the romance of the early settlement of this city, this volume has nothing to do. The hardships of our early pioneers are matters of history. It is to present the importance of the city to-day that the brief space allotted to the subject is designed.

Hamilton has superior facilities for becoming a large manufacturing city—her geographical position being accessible from all points of the compass, both by railway and lake navigation. The advantage Hamilton affords for the profitable investment of capital and labor, in every department of industry, will bear favorable comparison with those of any other city in the Dominion. Frugality and industry are prominent characteristics of her inhabitants. The reputation abroad of her merchants and manufacturers is the result not only of their industry and their wealth, but of their enterprise and the conservative element in their business transactions—an element which has enabled them to withstand general misfortune in business with a firmness and ability which few communities can boast of. She has, in her manufacturing career, built up a foundation of remarkable solidity for the future increase of her commercial and manufacturing operations. The reader is referred, for a description of the manufacturing establishments, to page 291, and for the lists of wholesale merchants, and other dealers, to the Classified Business Directory.

There are other cities whose growth in population seems to be more rapid than Hamilton, and, probably, for a short period, has been so; yet, viewing its increase for a series of years, it is found there has been, in the swell of its population, a progress which, from its quietness, has attracted but little attention, and is, in its comparative ratio with the growth of other cities, undervalued by even her own citizens.

The Great Western Railway and branches—having an entire length of about three hundred and fifty miles—has done much to advance the prosperity of Hamilton; and the certain prospect of the early completion of the Wellington, Grey and Bruce Railway—a portion of the line being now under contract—will further tend to increase the mercantile and manufacturing establishments in the city, and add to its general prosperity.

As a sketch of the workshops of the Great Western Railway here—this city being the headquarters of the Road—would be interesting to many, considerable space has been allotted to the subject in this edition of the Directory.

Going down Queen street, we first come upon the Rolling Mill, erected by the Great Western Railway Co., in 1864. It is 170 feet in length, 100 feet in width, 35 feet in height to the eaves, and running from thence to about 70 feet in the centre of the roof. The roof is formed of trussed beams, and slated. One engine of 400 horse power is used, together with two smaller engines of 20 horse power each. There are six boilers, four of which are thirty feet long and thirty inches in diameter, and one forty inches in diameter. The saws are four feet in diameter, and make 1000 revolutions per minute. The cooling bed for hot rails is formed of an inclined plane of rails, laid at intervals of three feet. The large engine is a high-pressure, vertical engine, with forty-two inch cylinder, three feet stroke, and makes 80 revolutions per minute; the fly wheel is 24 feet in diameter, and weighs 35 tons. The small engines are horizontal, coupled to the same shaft by cranks at right angles, and their cylinders  $10\frac{1}{2}$  inches in diameter, with 20 inch stroke. To manufacture 4,000 tons of new rails will consume about 5,000 tons of coal. The company employs about 150 men in the mill, and has four rail-heating furnaces, and two double puddling furnaces. The machinery for the mill, viz: engine, mill train, furnaces and saws, were manufactured for the Railway Company by Messrs. Goldie, McCulloch & Co., of the town of Galt. Messrs. Gartshore & Co., of Dundas, manufactured the powerful shears, rail straighteners, turning lathe, &c. There is also a large steam hammer, (5 tons), made by Morrison, of Newcastle, England.

From the Rolling Mill, we pass through the time-keepers gate into the yard of the Mechanical Department. The duty of this department is the construction and maintenance of the rolling stock of the line.—Light repairs are done at other stations, but this is the headquarters of the department where all its heavier work is executed. The buildings are erected upon "made ground," and together with the surrounding yards occupy an area of about 40 acres. It seems to have been the intention of the original designers of the workshops to have them of solid masonry, but their conception of the workshop accommodation which the railway would require, fell far short of what proved to be the reality. The rapidly expanding traffic of the line soon showed that the original buildings were totally inadequate for the work required, and the art of the stonemason was found too slow to supplement the deficiency in time to meet the necessity for extension as fast as it arose, and the service of the carpenter had to be called upon; the result is a collection of buildings partly stone and partly frame. This of course increases the danger of fire, and when one thinks of the vast amount of capital which must have been expended in the erection of these extensive workshops, and of the valuable machinery which they contain, a fire sweeping through them is something fearful to contemplate. But, besides a partial insurance which the company has effected upon them, the arrangements for the prevention and extinguishing of fires are very complete. Of the large quantity of shavings, saw dust and splinters, every day made by the various planing, moulding and sawing machines, and by the jack-planes and chisels of the busy carpenters, not a particle is allowed to remain overnight, except enough to kindle the morning fires with—all is swept into the capacious mouth of the engine furnace, and is forever after harmless. Each shop is swept scrupulously clean at the close of each day's labor, so that no inflammable debris is left for an accidental spark to ignite. With commendable prudence, the company a few years ago introduced the pipes of the city water service into the yard of the workshops, placing hydrants at convenient points; hose reels, carrying between three and four hundred feet of hose each, are also provided and manned by organised companies among the workmen, drilled by periodical practice into expertness in the work of handling them, besides this there are two hand fire engines manned by companies of between eighty and ninety men each, and a rotary steam fire engine, throwing two fine streams of water, placed upon the top of a locomotive kept constantly in steam and ready for service at a moment's notice.

The first place we enter is the erecting shop, on the ground floor of a large building, 165 feet long 125 feet broad. This has, not inappropriately been called an hospital for sick giants, for it must be borne in mind that your iron horse, though fleet of foot and strong of limb, is, after all, finely and even delicately organized, and subject to almost as many ailments as the human frame. Not to speak of the many accidents to which he is liable, he is the victim of certain diseases which no skill in construction and no care in management has, so far, been able to prevent; the water which he drinks, for instance, and which is the source of his power, will leave behind it a sedimentary deposit which, in the course of time, if left alone, will derange his whole internal economy; then again his rapid motion and the consequent friction of his rotating and sliding parts gradually wears undulations in surfaces which must be perfectly "true" in order to discharge their functions with certainty and efficiency; all things considered, therefore, we need not wonder to find that his "doctor's bill" is somewhat heavy; but he has this advantage over us he always gets cured, not indeed that he is without his quack doctors and patent medicines, but these are to be objected to rather on the ground of their uselessness and expense than of their positive injury. Into this shop the scattered parts of the locomotive are gathered together and placed so as to form the perfect machine; hence we see it here in every possible stage of development, from the primitive boiler, resting upon its timber foundation in helpless imbecility, to the completed engine under a full "head of steam," emitting a fizzing, gurgling sound, and awaiting but the magic touch of the engineer's fingers to be off upon its iron roadway with a speed that outrivals the winged eagle, and a power that laughs at the ponderous elephant. Radiating from a turntable, twelve tracks run through the shop, each capable of accommodating two engines, so that, if necessary, twenty-four may be under repair at the same time; to each engine a "leading hand" is assigned, who has charge of the "job," and has what assistance he requires. On the western side of the shop, a few of the more ponderous pieces of the locomotive machinery are placed; huge lathes, for boring cylinders and turning up driving wheels, also, iron planing and slotting machines, and a Braemar press, for forcing wheels on and off their axles.

Going up stairs, we reach the machine shop proper, or fitting shop, a large, airy room, 165x83 ft., with high ceiling, well lighted, and in all respects cheerful to look at. Here all the brass work for the department is finished; also the blacksmith's forgings, and the foundryman's castings, when they require a nicer fit, or a finer surface than the anvil and hammer, or the process of moulding are capable of giving, such as side rods, connecting rods, pistons, and, in short, what is known as the "working gear" of the engine. On our right, as we enter, there runs a line of shafting the whole length of the ceiling, from which innumerable belts run laterally and vertically, giving motion to no less than 35 machines of various kinds; of these, 18 are lathes, 5 shaping machines, 4 planers, and 6 drilling machines. The machinery is chiefly of English make, Whitworth and Nasmyth being the principal manufacturers; three of the lathes, however, were made in this city, at the establishment of Messrs. Beckett & Co., and, we are glad to learn, are giving entire satisfaction. Not the least notable of the things to be seen in this shop is a set of Whitworth's gauges, varying in size from the sixteenth of an inch to four inches. The use of these is a perfect security against inaccuracy of workmanship, arising from mistakes of measurement, or variations in foot rules.

Along the eastern side of the shop run rows of benches, to which over 30 vices are attached. Here the file and chisel workers bring into nicety of proportion and beauty of finish the designs which preceding processes have rudely indicated. All around, in orderly arrangement, lie the multiform and complicated parts of the locomotive soon to be gathered upon a "lorry," wheeled to the hatchway in the middle of the shop, and, by means of the "steam hoist," lowered to their destination in the erecting shop beneath.

Up another flight of stairs, and we are into the pattern shop, the name of which alone will be sufficient to indicate its purpose. The patterns, from which castings may at any time be repaired, are conveniently arranged upon racks, easily accessible, and carefully numbered, to prevent mistakes. If the workmen here are at all æsthetically inclined, they are most favorably situated, since the height of their shop enables them to overlook all the other buildings; and its northern windows present a splendid view of the surrounding lake and landscape, bounded only by the line of the horizon.

Immediately to the west of this building, we come upon the stationary engine, some seventy or eighty horse power, supplied with steam by four boilers, driving all the machinery of the department, but having no features of special interest to note. A few steps further, and we come to the door of the blacksmith shop—the atmosphere of its interior somewhat murky and sulphurous, as it beseems the atmosphere of a blacksmith shop to be, even when, as in this case, it is supplied with ample louver ventilation and sliding skylights. But through the murkiness comes the cheerful glow of nearly thirty smithy fires, and the ringing music of some sixty hammers—that is to say, should they all be at work. To the left of the entrance stands a Nasmyth steam hammer, which might pass for a younger brother of the huge fellow at the Rolling Mill; but, though his proportions are infantile, in comparison, let it not be supposed that he is a weakling; on the contrary, he can bring down his iron fist with a thud which makes the building tremble to its foundation, or he will tap, tap, as lightly and quickly as a mother would tap the cheeks of her child—just as the expert attendant, who does the “wire pulling,” may chance to determine. The hammer is a great economiser of material, working up scraps which, without its aid, would have to be counted as waste. The scraps are first heaped upon a piece of pine board and placed in a furnace; by the time they have become suitably heated for welding, they have also become sufficiently adhesive to enable the blacksmith to pull them out with the tongs in one piece. They are then placed under the hammer, and welded into a homogeneous slab. These slabs, as they accumulate, are worked up into engine frames, crank axles, driving wheels, or whatever else may be more urgently required.

From this shop a door leads into the Boiler Shop, 134 feet long by 60 in width, and employing about 40 hands. Among the appliances for securing speedy and efficient work, which may be noted here, and which, did space permit, we would more minutely describe, are two punching and shearing machines, one large radial drill, one stationary drill, one washer punching machine, and a set of plate-bending rolls. Among specimens of substantial and most creditable workmanship, which invite attention, and, notwithstanding the discordant music of the busy riveters, we must pause a moment before the huge punching and shearing machine. The monster is opening and closing his iron-jaws with a slow and stately regularity of movement, which gives but small token of a nervous temperament; he looks as if no possible inducement would quicken his speed, but, then—as per Emerson's Law of Compensation—nothing can arrest or retard it. Place a piece of half-inch boiler plate between his open jaws, and he bites it in two for you, with no more perceptible effort than if it were so much gingerbread; place it under one of his descending tusks and he “lets daylight through it,” in the shape of a rivet hole, in the same nonchalant manner; lastly, give him an iron rod—its diameter may be half an inch, or it may be two inches, it matters not—and he nips off the end of it as if it were a cigar which he was preparing for a light. In this shop all the locomotive boilers are constructed and repaired; here, too, were made the large boilers for the Great Western ferryboat on the Detroit river, and also the iron girder bridges, with which the company, some time since, replaced the original wooden structures.

Leaving here, we pass to the western end of the yard, and enter the Car Body Building Shop, 400 feet long, and wide enough for two rows of cars. This shop holds the same relation to the car department which the erecting shop does to the locomotive department. The products of the various wood machines—to be presently noticed—are collected here and put together. The shop is without machinery, but nevertheless a place of bustling activity; all around us active workmen are hammering sawing, boring, “striking into bounds” incipient trucks, which, so far, are but wheels, axles, bolsters, pedestals, springs, &c., or clothing the skeleton form of a passenger car with panels and mouldings; or, mayhap, carrying into execution the sentence of condemnation passed upon some superannuated freight car, which has done its allotted work, and must now give place to a renewed image of itself. A portion of the western end of the shop is partitioned off and used exclusively for the construction of first-class cars; four of these are now building; their tasteful design presents us with a strong temptation to deliver an historical homily on passenger cars, did not our fast diminishing space warn us to be brief. There is scarcely a greater contrast between our old style of travelling and that which railways introduced, than there is between the latter and that which they have now reached. Twelve years ago, the sine qua non of successful car building was to produce cars for $2,500 each. Suggest to the car builders of those days any improvement upon established plans, and, in reply, you would get but a shake of their wise old heads, and a prediction that it would “never pay.” But at length the spirit of modern progress rudely cuffed them out of their old ruts, and now we have passenger cars in which the traveller may accomplish “magnificent distances,” with all the comforts of his home clinging around him. It is awarding no undeserved praise to say that, in this matter, the Great Western Railway Company has always kept fully up to the standard of the best railways on the continent, and when the four cars in question are finished, we believe they will furnish a reasonable claim to even a higher encomium than this.

Immediately in rear of this shop is the lumber yard, which, with its hundreds of thousands of feet of “seasoned stuff” carefully housed, and, outside, its squares and blocks, and its tortuous labyrinth of streets and alleys, can only be afforded a passing notice.

Returning toward the eastern end of the yard, we pass rows of “scrap sheds,” partitioned into compartments, and carefully labelled, so as to admit of a proper classification of the scrap, and an easy access to it when required.

Up a flight of stairs, and we are in the Tinsmith Shop, where all the tin-work of the department is done, from the making of a “head lamp” down to that of a drinking cup, including hand and train signal lamps, water coolers, ventilators, &c.

Next in order comes the two-story stone building, in which all the car machinery is worked. On the ground floor is to be seen 1 large traversing planer, 1 cylinder planer, 3 circular saws, 1 shaping machine, 1 tenoning machine, 1 boring machine, and 1 moulding machine. This shop prepares the heavier timbers of the car, such as sills, truss-planks, truck timbers; also, flooring, and sheathing and roofing for freight and baggage cars.

The upper story of this building is occupied by the cabinet makers, with machinery suitable for their work, consisting of one traversing planer, two moulding machines, three circular and one "jig" saw, two tenoning machines, one shaper, one mortising machine, one turning lathe, and a machine for making wood waste, or fine shavings, as a substitute for cotton waste. A busy, rushing, tearing place, this of the wood machinery; in the locomotive department the various machines are set to a slow and decorous regularity of movement; here, on the contrary, they seem to realize one's idea of embodied furies—whirling, yelling, screeching, and making the air alive with swarms of dancing chips and shavings. This shop is chiefly devoted to the interior fittings and the lighter portion of the frames of first-class cars.

The Paint Shop is a large frame building, capable of holding eight first-class cars, lofty of ceiling, well ventilated, and scrupulously neat and tidy in its ensemble. It would, of course, be an unwarrantable falsification of ancient wisdom to find a paint shop itself painted, but here we have the nearest possible approach to it, every beam and stud and brace in its well trussed roof, together with the walls, being whitewashed to an immaculate whiteness, giving the shop a most cheerful and picturesque appearance. Running parallel with this is another building of the same size, used for light repairs of cars, trucks, &c.

Next to this is a large two-story stone building, nearly 300 feet long by 60 in width, in which the mechanical and engineering stores are kept; on the ground floor are all the heavier articles, such as bar and rod iron, brass and copper tubes, springs, axles, and a large variety of other things coming under the head of "too numerous to mention." On the upper floor are all the shelf and lighter materials; on this floor, also, besides the office of the storekeeper, there are the drawing office, the mechanical clerks' office, and last, but far from least in importance, the office of W. A. Robinson, Esq., the superintendent of the department. Nor must we pass over another place of peculiar interest on this floor—the Library Room. Somewhat over three years ago, the directors, at the instigation of Mr. Swinyard, devoted the fund, which had accumulated, since the opening of the road, from fines imposed upon employes for violations of the Company's rules, to the purchase of books—thus forming the nucleus of a library, which we hope to see increase in size and usefulness with its advancing years. The library has at present nearly 2000 well-selected volumes. It is open to all the employes in the Company's service, at the almost nominal subscription of a dollar a year, and, for employes at out stations, convenient train arrangements are made to carry their books to and fro.

At the eastern end of the "stores" stands another substantial stone structure, which is used as a combined engine paint shop and weigh shed. It is supplied with one of Pooley & Sons' weighing machines, with six scale—a most interesting and beautiful piece of mechanism; by its use, not only can the whole weight of an engine be ascertained, but also that resting upon each wheel severally—a most important point in locomotive construction.

The last place we can afford to particularize is the "Round House," a semi-circular stone building, where the engines intended for immediate use are kept. The building has 12 tracks, entering by 12 doors, and converging at the turn-table in front, where the engine may be turned to whatever point of the compass its services may be required.

And now we are at the end of our space, and hence at the end of our description—and yet how many things remain to be said of this industrial home of 500 workers—the orderly neatness and convenient arrangement of its clean kept yard, for instance. How many unenumerated things of beauty—illustrations of human genius—are stowed away among its revolving wheels and pinions. How thick come the reflections, as one contrasts it with what it was in the memory of men yet young—a place of weeds and rushes—the habitat of the turtle—its margin sacred to the solitary wanderer. How numerous the incipient speculations, as one thinks of the changes in our condition—industrial and social—which the great enterprise with which it is connected has wrought, but the Semaphore extends its threatening arm and we obey.

CHURCHES.

Church of England.—Under a canon of the Synod of Toronto, Hamilton, which had been one parish, was divided in 1859, into three separate territorial parishes, viz., that of Christ Church, of the Church of the Ascension, and that of St. Thomas Church.

Christ Church.—The congregation of this church was organized about 1835, and a church edifice erected in 1837. Rev. J. G. Geddes has been in charge of this parish for thirty-three years. The Rev. Dr. Neville has recently accepted the appointment to St. Thomas Church, and his successor as Curate of Christ Church will be the Rev. T. S. Cartwright, of Bartonville. A commencement was made some years since for the erection of a large and handsome church on the site of the old church. This new addition forms at present a part of the former church, and cost already about twenty thousand dollars. The edifice, when completed, is estimated to cost about $70,000. That portion already put up is very handsomely finished, and has elegantly designed stained glass windows. Sunday Services at 11 a. m., and 7 p. m. Holy communion on Principal Festivals, and on the first Sunday of every month. Public Baptisms on the second Sunday of every month, at 3 p. m. Service on Saints' Days and every Wednesday and Friday during lent.

The Church of the Ascension, (See Engraving.)—Stands in a very prominent position upon a plot of ground bounded by Maria, Upper John, and Hannah streets. It was opened for divine service in June, 1851, the Rector of the church and parish attached, is the Rev. John Hebden, M. A. The parish was erected under a canon of the synod of the diocese of Toronto, in 1859. The site on which the church immediately stands, was the gift of Richard Juson, Esq., late of Hamilton, an addition was made to the site by the purchase of an adjoining lot, on which a school house has been erected. The church is built of native stone, after designs by Messrs. Cumberland & Storm, Architects, of Toronto. It is in cruciform shape, with tower in the N.E. angle. Size of church, 76 x 46; of transepts, 23 x 11; of chancel, 12 x 26; dimensions of tower, 13 x 13; height of tower, (which is unfinished) 70 feet; number of sittings, 700. The tower contains a peal of five bells, from the celebrated foundry of the Messrs. Mears, of Whitechapel, London, England. Total cost of the church, about $18,000. Services at 11 a.m., and 7 p.m.

Church of St. Thomas.—Stands in the east end of the city, on Emerald street, near corner of Wilson street. It was erected in 1856, and was at first a chapel of ease to Christ Church, afterwards made a parish church, when the city was divided into parishes, in 1859. The style of the church is Norman, or what is called early English, and has a very neat and tasteful appearance. It is built of frame, stuccoed, with nave, chancel, vestry and bell turret. Size of church, 70 x 36 feet, ir-respective of the chancel; number of sittings, 400. The interior of the building is neatly finished, and the triple window in the chancel is partly of stained glass. cost of the church, about $1750. Service every Sunday, at 11 a.m., and 7 p.m. Sunday School at 9:15 a.m. Present Rector, the Rev. Dr. Neville, late Curate of Christ Church.

St. John's Church.—This is a temporary place of worship, situated on the corner of King and Queen streets. Permission to use it for Divine Service was granted originally by the late lamented John Mills, Esq. The present Minister is the Rev. J. G. D. McKenzie, M. A., who has been connected with the Church for nearly eight years. During that period the building has been twice enlarged at Mr. Mills' expense. It will contain 160 persons. In connection with the Church there is a flourishing Sunday School, numbering 130 children, with an average attendance of between 80 and 90. The work of the school is conducted by a Superintendent, a Librarian, and ten Teachers.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCHES.

St. Andrew's Church.—Church of Scotland (See Engraving.) The congregation in connection with this church was originally formed in the year 1833. For a time after the formation, worship was conducted in the Court House, Prince's Square.

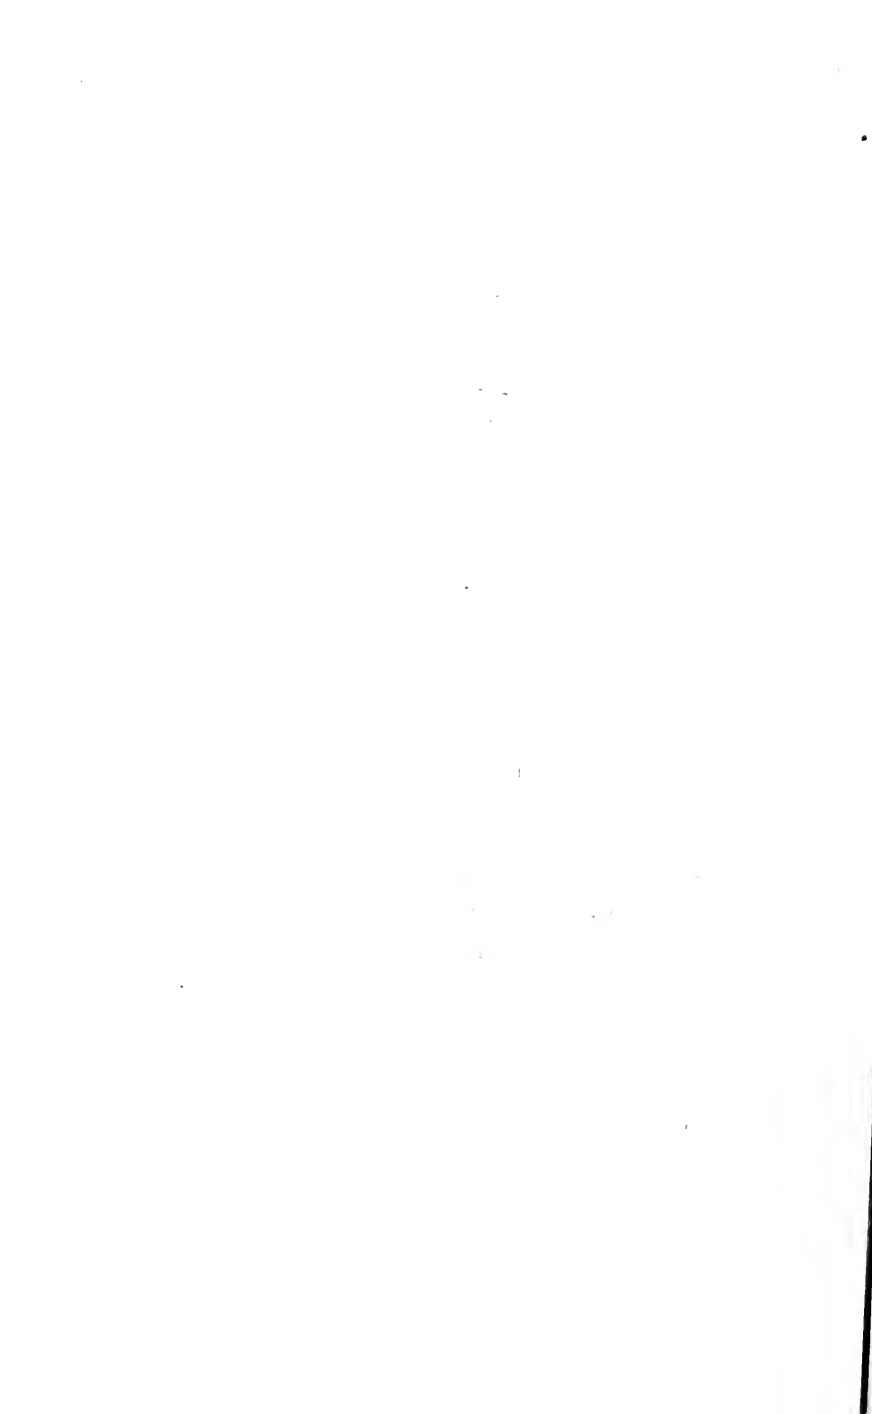

The Rev. Alex. Gale was the first minister, who was called from the pastoral oversight of Amherstburg to undertake that of Hamilton. At this period Hamilton was within the bounds of the Presbytery of York, and it was not till toward the end of 1836 that the Synod constituted the Presbytery of Hamilton, which was to comprise the Niagara, London, Gore and Western districts. Mr. Gale, seceded in 1844, and was succeeded in the pastorate by the Rev. Alexander Mackid, who was inducted to the congregation in January, 1846. Mr. Mackid at the same time also ministered to Saltfleet, Dundas and Ancaster. Mr. Mackid demitted his charge in June, 1848, and accepted that of Goderich.

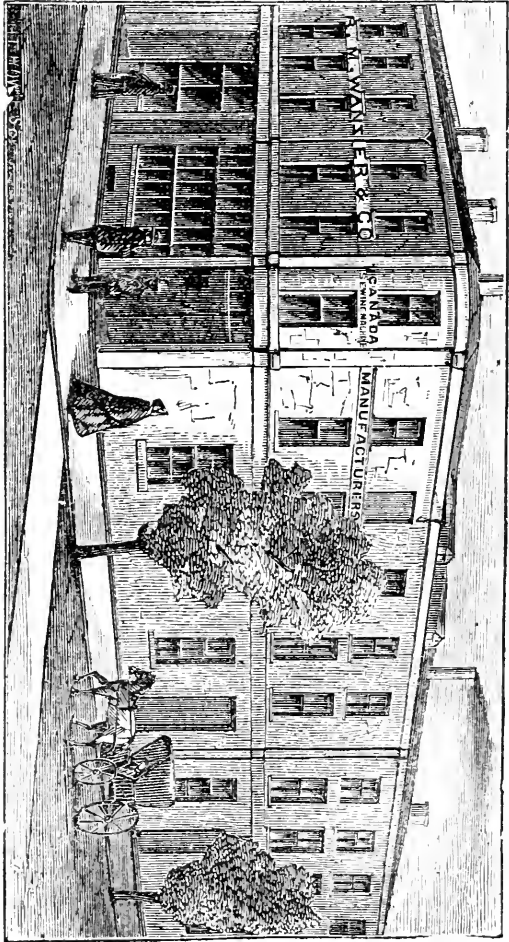

In October, 1850, the Rev. Daniel Macnee became the minister, and after labouring in the Province for three years, returned to Scotland.—During the incumbency of these clergymen, the congregation worshipped in the wooden structure which now stands on Maiden Lane and Charles street, which had at various times undergone enlargement.

In 1853 the induction of the present minister, the Rev. Robt. Burnet, took place, and shortly after the congregation agreed to erect the present

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

F. M. WANZLER & CO.'S SEWING MACHINE MANUFACTORY, JAMES STREET, HAMILTON.

St. Andrew's Church on James Street. The foundation stone was laid in 1855 by John Young, Esq., Trustee and Senior Elder of the Church. The erection was completed in 1857, and on the 8th of March of that year was opened by the Rev. Dr. Mathieson, of Montreal, and the Rev. Professor Weir, Queen's College, Kingston.

The main portion of the building is of mountain stone, of plain dressed work; the tower and spire, together with the doorways and other ornamental portions are of Cleveland stone, of smooth finish. It is strengthened throughout by massive buttresses, which give a very substantial character to the exterior. The principal entrance is from James street, by a doorway of most elegant proportions, wrought in an elaborate manner; there is a door also on either side. The spire is 198 feet from the level of the side-walk to the finale stone, and eight more to the top of the vane. The tower is a handsome and lofty pile of masonry, tastefully ornamented with carved canopies and pinnacles. This portion of the work was done by George Worthington, Esq. The carpenter and joiner work is of the finest description. The gallery is supported by oak cluster-columns, with carved capitals. It will seat 1000, and is 110 x 64 feet. On each side are five handsome gothic windows, glazed with diamond-shaped stained glass, imported expressly from Messrs. Chance and Sons, of Birmingham, except a portion from the establishment of C. March, Esq., of Toronto. The seats, both above and below are well arranged and convenient. They are all grained, oak pattern, except the cappings which are solid oak. The pulpit is very handsomely ornamented with carved work. Two hot air furnaces are used to heat the building. There is a large basement story under the whole, which is used as a Sunday School-room.

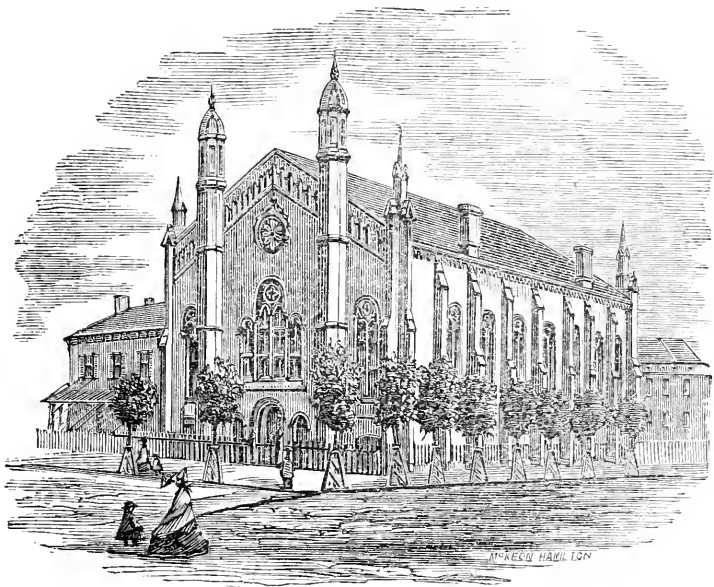

The carpenter work was executed by Messrs. Simpson & Son, of Hamilton. The painting by Mr. Robertson. The glazing by Mr. Toms, and the plastering by Messrs. Mercer & McIver. The whole, the design of the late Mr. Thomas, Architect of Toronto. The building cost about forty-four thousand dollars. Services at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m.

Knox Church (Canada Presbyterian)—Corner of James and Henry Sts.—This is the oldest Presbyterian congregation in the city. It was organized in the year 1833, under the name of St. Andrew's Church, as a congregation of "the Presbyterian Church in Canada in connection with the Church of Scotland." Its first pastor was the Rev. Alex. Gale, who afterwards removed to Toronto, and its first place of worship was a small building on the site of the present St. Andrew's Church. The disruption in Scotland in 1843 having been followed in July, 1844, by the disruption of the Synod in Canada and the formation of the Synod of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, otherwise known as the Free Church, Mr. Gale and the large majority of his congregation decided to connect themselves with the latter body. By this act the congregation found their right to the place of worship disputed, and to prevent interruption and litigation, they resolved in November of the same year to abandon it. For a short time they occupied the Secession Church and afterwards a Methodist Church on John Street, through the courtesy and kindness of the Trustees of these congregations. Their present place of worship was completed in the year 1846, and has since, during a period of 21 years, been occupied by the congregation, under the designation of Knox's Church. As then completed, it was a substantial edifice of cut stone, in the Roman style of architecture, and capable of accommodating at least 800 persons. In the year 1847, Mr. Gale removed to Toronto to resume the duties of his professorship in Knox College, and the Rev. Ralph Robb was soon afterwards settled over the congregation as his successor. Mr. Robb was removed by death in 1850, and the Rev. George Patton Young was called to be his successor. In 1853, Mr. Young removed to Toronto to fill the position of Professor in Exegetics, &c., in Knox College. In the following year the Rev. Robert Irvine, D. D., was called to the vacant congregation, and accepted the charge. It was now in a very flourishing condition, and the Church so full that it was deemed advisable for a number of families to separate from Knox Church and form a new congregation. The result was the organization of McNab street Presbyterian Church, to which the Rev. Dr. Inglis was called as pastor. The congregation of Knox Church still continuing large and constantly increasing, it was resolved in the year 1856 to enlarge the church by the addition of a large transverse wing, running across the whole eastern end. A commodious stone manse, immediately adjoining the church and fronting on Henry St., was erected at the same time. The value of the whole church property is $25,000, and the church, as thus enlarged, is capable of accommodating not less than 1200 persons, and although the style of architecture is a little plain and old-fashioned, it is one of the most comfortable in the city. Dr. Irvine having accepted a call to Philadelphia in July, 1864, the church again became vacant. In the summer of 1865, the Rev. A. B. Simpson, its present minister, was called to become its fifth pastor. Although it has passed through many changes and some trials, and although its former members are to be found in all parts of this country, and many of them in other churches in this city, it is now in a very flourishing condition, numbering more than 350 families and more than 400 members.

Hours of Service.—Sabbath School at 9 a. m., John Alexander, Superintendent. Service 11 a. m., 6½ p. m. Wednesday evening at 7½ o'clock.

The Central Presbyterian Church is situated on the corner of McNab street and Maiden Lane, and was erected in 1857-8 by the congregation which formerly worshipped on Merrick Street, and which was then designated the United Presbyterian Congregation. The building is a large elegant structure of white pressed brick, the front elevation surmounted with two turrets. Its length is 126 feet and its width 72, and is seated to accommodate 1,500 persons. The basement storey, which is nearly all above ground, is fitted up for Lecture Room and Sabbath School Room, Committee Rooms and Pastor's Study. The entire cost of house and ground, about $33,000, has been paid by the Congregation, which, during the last ten years, has raised for religious purposes more than $70,000.

The Congregation was first organized about 25 years ago. Their first Pastor, the Rev. J. Dalrymple, remained but a few years with them, leaving behind him a fragrant memory. They next procured the services of the Rev. J. Hogg—now of Guelph—who labored faithfully and successfully among them three or four years. In 1856 the present pastor, Rev. W. Ormiston, D. D., was settled over them, since that time the progress of the Congregation has been marked and most encouraging. The membership is now 530. The Sabbath School large and prosperous, and all the public services well attended.

McNab Street Presbyterian Church.—The congregation now worshipping in the McNab Street Church was organized in August, 1854, with about forty members, divine service being held in the Mechanics'

Hall. A commodious house of worship, capable of holding about 400 persons, was built and opened in February, 1855, and in May of the same year the Rev. David Inglis was inducted as their first pastor. It was soon found necessary to enlarge the church accommodation, and in April, 1856, the foundation stone of the present spacious church was laid by the Hon. Isaac Buchanan. It was completed and opened in June, 1857. It is built in the gothic style of architecture, of the beautiful stone obtained from the mountain in the rear of the city; it is massive in its structure and commanding in its position. Its dimensions are 114 feet in length, including the tower, by 66 in breadth, and, with the galleries, will comfortably seat nearly 1300 persons.

Congregational Church.—Corner of Hughson and Henry Streets. The denomination of Christians to which the above Church belongs appeared in Great Britain at the early dawn of the Reformation. In England, Ireland, Scotland, the United States, and other parts of the world, they have more than seven thousand churches in fellowship with one another; and of churches formed on the same plan, bearing other designations, there are at least twenty thousand more. The Congregational Church in this city was formed in 1835. The first pastor, Rev. David Dyer, now of Albany, N. Y., was sent to this country by the London Missionary Society. Under Mr. Dyer's auspices, the old frame church which stands to the rear of the lot was erected 30 years ago, and was then one of the handsomest churches which Hamilton could boast. After Mr. Dyer's removal, the church had Rev. P. W. Wastell, from Guelph, as stated supply for one year. Mr. Wastell was succeeded by Rev. John Osborne, in whose time the church was not in fellowship with the other Congregational Churches in the Province. Shortly after the resignation and death of Mr. Osborne, the church was, by voluntary consent of the members, dissolved, and a new church formed under the pastorate of Rev. R. Robinson, now of Owen Sound, Ont., who was succeeded in 1853 by Rev. Edward Ebbs, now of Aurora, Ill., who resigned in June, 1858.

The present pastor, Rev. Thos. Pullar, who was for many years minister of the Congregational Church, North Albion Street, Glasgow, Scotland, commenced his stated labors in the fall of 1858, and was inducted into the charge of the church on the 4th of October, when the foundation stone of the new church edifice was laid. It is a simple and elegant brick building, calculated to seat 450 persons, having a gallery at one end, well ventilated and beautifully illuminated. It is fitted up with every convenience in the way of school and lecture rooms, vestry, &c., and warmed with a very efficient heating apparatus. It has a handsome front and a porch entrance by a flight of steps from Hughson street. Internally it is tastefully and commodiously furnished, and is well adapted for both speaking and hearing. It is free of debt, the last remains of which were cleared away in June, 1865. The congregation has raised for local and general religious purposes, during the last eight years, not less than 18,000 dollars. The following notice of the last anniversary, in June, 1866, will indicate the present position of this church.

“The seventh anniversary of the opening of the Congregational Church, Hughson street, and the eighth of the pastorate of the present minister, were celebrated by appropriate services on Sabbath, the 24th June. No special collections were made, as the church edifice is free of debt. A meeting of the members was held in the evening, when, after the usual business, the pastor gave an address, on the progress of the church, especially during the past year. About a fourth part has been added to the membership of last year, and the church has enjoyed peace and harmony among themselves and affectionate relations with their pastor.

“On Wednesday evening, the 27th, the annual financial meeting of the congregation was held, when it was reported that during the past year the sum of $2,030 had been raised by the congregation, being an average of more than twenty dollars annually for each contributing member. The two last years have exceeded in amount of contributions and general progress any two during the present pastorate except the first, when a very large sum was raised to erect a new church edifice. Besides a presentation last January of one hundred dollars to the pastor, a handsome permanent addition has been made to his salary. A balance, under the head of incidental expenses, of $88, due to the treasurer, was met by a contribution on the spot. During this year a Ladies’ Working Society has been instituted, which is largely attended and productive of good results; and the pastor’s Bible Class was attended by 70 persons. Arrangements were made for increasing the Missionary Fund, and the Sabbath School was reported as larger and more prosperous than on any former occasion.”

Mr. Wm. Edgar, Superintendent of the Sabbath School.

Hours of divine service on the Lord’s day, from May till October, at 11 a. m. and at 6½ p. m.; from October to May at 11 a. m., and at 3½ p. m.; on Thursday evenings at 7½ p. m. Sabbath School, summer at 2½ p. m., winter 2 p. m.

Baptist Church.—Organized 23rd December, 1843.—Recognition services were held at “Thornton’s School House,” on 7th January, 1844, when twelve persons were recognized as “the Baptist Church of Park Street, Hamilton.” Rev. Alfred Booker, one of the twelve, being Pastor, he having for twelve previous years been Pastor of the Park street Baptist Church, in Nottingham, England. The original chapel was 38 × 50 feet, a plain but comfortable brick building, with stone basement for Sabbath School, &c., cost over $2,000, and was completed in 1864. Mr. Booker continued the Pastor until his death, which took place on March 12th, 1867, by the memorable accident at the Railway Bridge, Desjardins Canal; he was returning home from holding service with a branch church, at the village of Wellington Square. The church then numbered nearly one hundred communicants, and was free from debt. After Mr. Booker’s death the following reverend gentlemen successively became pastors of the Church: Rev. Jno. Burke, Rev. Jno. Bates, Rev. Jno. Crawford, Rev. Freeman G. Brown, Rev. R. J. Wilson. In 1862, during Mr. Brown's Pastorate, the chapel was rebuilt at a cost of about $4000; size 38 × 73, with basement and gallery. The new front is a very neat specimen of architecture, in semi-Gothic style, of pressed brick, with cut stone base, sills, capping and pinnacles. Will seat comfortably 400. Present membership, 164.

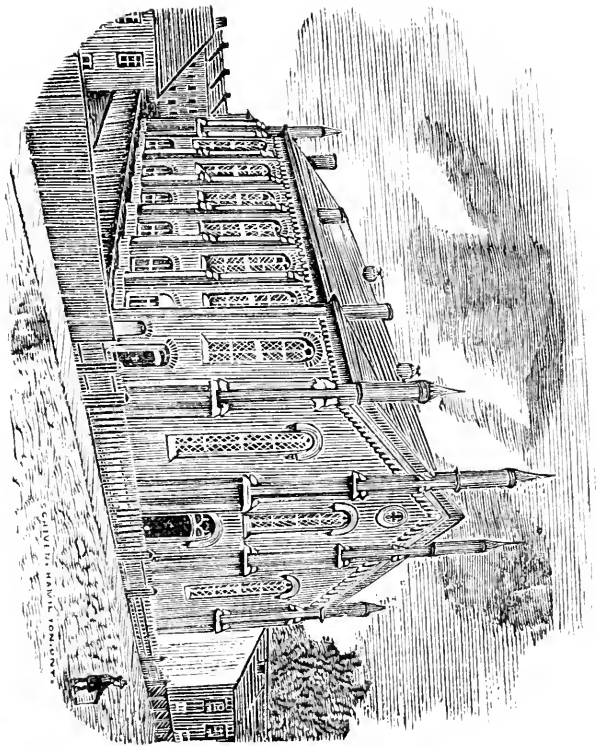

The present Pastor, Rev. Geo. Richardson, commenced his labors on the 1st Dec., 1866, and is well settled in the affections of his charge. Public service every Sabbath, at 11 a. m., and 6.30 p. m.

Sabbath School in the afternoon, at 2.30. Average school attendance, 272. Week lecture, Tuesday, at 7.30 p. m. Prayer meeting, Thursday. Business meeting on Wednesday, before the last Sabbath in each month, all held at the same hour.

WESLEYAN METHODISTS.

In the year 1824 the first church erected in the city of Hamilton was erected by the Wesleyan Methodists on the corner of King and Wellington streets. The building is frame and underwent many improvements during the period of nearly half a century. Lately this church has been removed, and is now being replaced by an elegant stone edifice. It is intended to have the new building completed early next spring, and will cost when finished about ten thousand dollars. In 1833, the year of the union of the Canadian Methodist Church with the British Conference, the population of Hamilton was but one thousand souls, and the Methodist Church was comprised in one single class, led by Mr. David Springer, and under the ministrations of the Rev. James Evans, and the Rev. Edwin Ryerson, since deceased. In the early part of that year a revival occurred, the membership was increased to 140, and the first Sabbath School ever established in Hamilton was organized in the old King street Church. In 1840, the division between the British Methodists and the Canadian Methodists occurred and the former at once commenced the erection of the present John street Church, securing in the meantime the site of a building which had been erected by the American Presbyterians some time previously, but which, from troubles arising out of the rebellion, had ceased to be used by any denomination. In this they worshipped under the pastorate of the Rev. John G. Manly, the Rev. Ephraim Evans being Superintendent of the District, until 1841, when the John-street Church having been completed, they took formal possession of it. The King-street Church becoming too small for the congregation which continued to worship in it, the McNab-street Church was commenced by them, the corner stone having been laid in April, 1846, and the walls erected and covered in during that and the succeeding year. [This church has been torn down during the present season and a part of the material, (the stone) is used in the new church now building on King Street East.] In 1847, however, the re-union of the British and Canadian Methodists happily took place, and as a bond of union, the King street congregation transferred themselves to the John street Church, suspending for a time the completion of the new building under erection on McNab street. The entire Methodist body of the city worshipped at the brick Church until 1851, when, although galleries had been put into it in the meantime, it having become too small, the McNab street Church was completed, and finally opened for Divine service on 1st of December of that year. The Revs. John Carrol and John Breden were the first pastors of the new Church. About the same time a Bethel Church was erected at the foot of Hughson street, the large business done at the Port of Hamilton, in those days, warranting the expectation that an important work could be there carried on. But the completion and opening of the Great Western Railway, affecting as it did seriously the lake business, militated against the success of the Bethel Church, and it was abandoned. In 1859 the John street Church was greatly enlarged, and about the same time the old Pioneer Church on King street was rebuilt—that is, so much improved as to be entitled to be called so—and re-occupied, and a year or two afterwards the Main street Church was erected.

Centenary Church.—This elegant structure was fully completed and opened for divine service last May. The following description of the church is taken from the Hamilton Spectator of May 11th, 1868.

On entering a private door to the basement floor at the north-west corner, the committee room is on the left hand, underneath the organ gallery; it is well lighted and beautifully furnished. Turning at a right angle a class room is on the right hand, and on the left an entrance to the vestry. A private staircase leads from that room to the main body of the church. The basement contains besides the above, two rooms for Sabbath School classes, and a Lecture Hall, which contains four hundred sittings. On a platform slightly elevated is a superintendent's reading desk. There are four windows on the east, and three on the west side, all stained glass. The style of woodwork stained and varnished. Two class rooms are entered from the south west and south-east of the lecture hall. On each side of the main door are two lofty windows, the glass stained Arabesque in pattern. To the west and east there are two other doors of entrance and exit. From the spacious lobby to the right and left flights of steps arise—each twenty in number, and eight feet wide, leading to the corridor, Here the auditorium is entered. Two narrower flights of steps rise from the corridor and conduct to the galleries, one of which occupies the south and two narrower galleries the east and west sides. There are seven large stained glass windows on each side of the church. The glass staining was executed by Mr. McCausland of Toronto. In the north, within a spacious aisle, architecturally projected from the church, and lighted by two lofty windows, stands the organ, all its parts constructed, and the whole built, under the supervision of Mr. T. W. White, organ builder, of Hamilton.

The two sections of seats nearest the east and west walls are placed obliquely to the longitudinal passages. The pulpit platform stands only about 40 inches from the floor. The platform is carpeted and furnished with sofa and chairs. A reading desk is in front covered with silk velvet cushions. A space round the sides and front of the pulpit platform is railed in, within which is the communion table. All the church floor is carpeted, the seats and backs of the pews, cushioned. The galleries in front are painted white. The sittings are 1600. The auditorium is  $86 \times 68$  and 40 feet high. The ceilings are beautifully frescoed and present the illusion of massive cornices, deep mouldings and panelings. The fresco painting was done by Mozier of Columbus, Ohio.

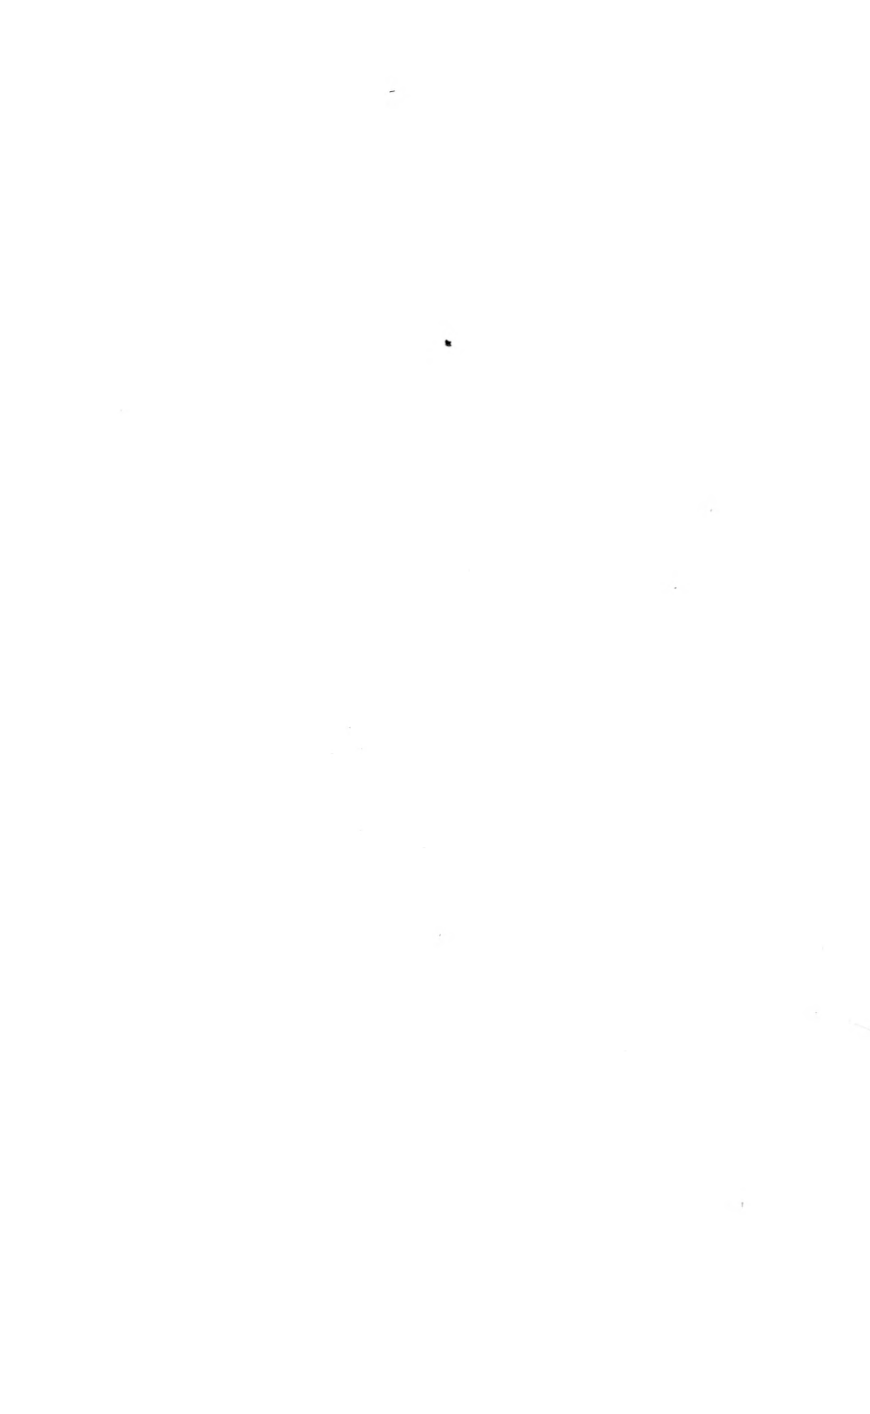

The external dimensions of the structure are 74 by 111 feet, exclusive of the projection 22 by 57 feet, within which are the committee room and organ gallery.

The style of architecture is the Renazance or Romanesque. The façade is of red pressed brick divided into bays, by octagonal buttresses. The buttresses, copes and plinths, which latter extends round the building, are of dressed freestone. Messrs. Hill & Son were the architects, Messrs. Webber, builders; Messrs. Sharp & Murison, the carpenters; Messrs. Young & Bro., plumbers and gasfitters; Messrs. Dow & Bros., plasterers; Mr. Freeborn, the painting, except the frescoe. The upholstery work was done under the superintendence of Mr. Morgan, from Messrs. Cooper & Co's carriage factory. Church Services, 10 a.m., 6.30 p.m. Officiating pastors, Rev. John Potts. Superintendent, and Rev. G. H. Bridgman. The Centenary Church is situated on Main street, between James and McNab streets, in the Hamilton City West Circuit.

Church of St. Mary of the Immaculate Conception.—(See engraving.)—This fine building is of the gothic style of architecture, and was designed by the late Mr. Kortum, who unfortunately, died before its completion. It is built of red brick, with white brick arches and cut-stone facings; its shape is cruciform; length one hundred and fifty feet, breath sixty feet, breadth of transept seventy-five feet. From the north-west angle rises a massive tower, which serves as a belfrey, the brick and stone work of which reaches one hundred and twenty feet in height, while the north-east corner is ornamented with a small octagonal tower of two-thirds of that elevation. The interior of the church is finished in the same style, with groined vault and Gothic ornaments. The Chancel is separated, on each side, from the Vestries by a lofty screen work, the design of which, as well as that of the high altar, is very beautiful, and reflects great credit upon the architectural taste of Mr. Perrault, under whose direction the interior of the Church was finished. In 1838, a small frame church was erected upon the present site of St. Mary's by the late Vicar General McDonald, who was the first resident Roman Catholic priest of Hamilton. Previous to that date the few Catholics of the place were occasionally assembled in private houses by the different priests who, in the earlier history of the country, from time to time visited the place. In 1847 the Very Rev. Mr. McDonald was succeeded by Rev. E. Gordon, now Vicar-General of the Diocese of Hamilton. The latter gentleman soon found it necessary to enlarge his Church, and this he did by building two extensive wings, which afforded accommodation to the congregation, which rapidly increased until it numbered between five and six thousand souls. In 1856 Hamilton was created an episcopal see under its present Bishop, the Right Rev. John Farrel, who in the commencement of his administration was obliged to make use of the old Church as a pro tem Cathedral, until it was destroyed by fire in the summer of 1859. This was a terrible loss, for the insurance had expired some days before. To supply the Congregation with a suitable Church required a great effort, but that effort was promptly made by the Bishop and his people, and the result is the present church, which is the largest and most expensive in the city.

New Connexion Methodist.—This Church is built of wood, and is situated on Main Street, near Nelson. The society was formed in 1831 by Elders Ryan, Smith and Jackson. The Church building was erected in 1833, but improved and enlarged subsequently, under the ministration of the Rev. T. Goldsmith. For a number of years the Church was unfortunate in its ministers—many of them breaking off their connection with it, and allying themselves with other denominations. However, of late years the church has made progress. It is under the pastoral care of the Rev. Chas. McKelvey. Services are held at 11 a. m. and 6½ p. m. on Sabbath days, and 7¼ p.m. on Thursdays.

NEWSPAPERS AND PERIODICALS.

Banner of Faith and Peacemaker.—A biblical monthly, published by D. Oliphant, and printed by T. & R. White, of the "Hamilton Spectator" for a company of disciples. It is now in its third year.

The Canada Christian Advocate.—This paper was commenced at Cobourg in 1845, the first number being issued on the second of January of that year. It was started as a private enterprise by Revds. T. Webster and J. H. Leonard, but devoted to the interests of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada. It was purchased by the general conference of the church, and removed to Hamilton in 1847; Rev. T. Webster, who had edited the paper when under private control, being the first editor appointed after it became church property. Mr. Webster held the position until 1850, when Rev. G. Sheppard received the appointment and occupied the editorial chair till 1858. At the general conference held that year, Rev. G. Abbs was elected to fill the office, but resigned the year following, when Rev. S. Morrison was chosen to fill the place. This gentleman resigned in the spring of 1863, when Rev. G. Abbs, the present incumbent, was again appointed. The Advocate, though the property of the M. E. Church, is free from sectarian bigotry, the great object being to make it a first-class religious and family newspaper.

The Craftsman.—This is a monthly periodical conducted by T. & R. White, and an able staff of contributors, printed at the office of the Hamilton Spectator. It is devoted to the diffusion of Masonic light and literature, for the improvement of the craft and the advancement of the Order. It is now closing its second volume, and since its commencement has met (and deservedly) with unexampled success in Ontario and Quebec, as well as a very large circulation in the Maritime Provinces. A publication of this character had become a necessity to the craft of Canada. Although many worthy and excellent magazines and other Masonic periodicals have been and are still published in the United States, the craft in Canada were desirous of having a publication of a home character. This desideratum is obtained in the Craftsman. Its articles are sound, conservative, entertaining and instructive, and its pages are laden with the gems of Masonic literature and kindred sciences, such matter as improves with time, and affords healthy food for the minds of the craftsmen as well as others. Terms, one dollar and fifty cents per annum.

The Hamilton Evening Times, which now ranks among the most popular, flourishing and influential journals in Canada, was established as a morning paper in January 1857, on the basis of the Daily Banner. In February, 1860, it was changed from a morning to an evening paper, under the editorial management of George Sheppard, Esq., but from various causes it failed to secure the success its proprietor anticipated. In 1861 it passed into the hands of Messrs. Jones & Holbrook, who continued its publication till January, 1862, when it was purchased by the present proprietors, Messrs. C. E. Stewart & Co. By the judicious expenditure of capital in the purchase, a large addition of new stock, the introduction of a steam power press, the organization of the whole establishment on a sound business basis, and the employment of some of the ablest political writers in the province, new life and energy was infused into every department of the establishment, and the consequence was an immediate, rapid and vast increase in the circulation of the paper, and a large augmentation in its advertising patronage and jobbing business, which must have been in the highest degree satisfactory to its energetic and enterprising proprietors. The circulation was in a short time increased from four hundred copies, daily, to two thousand, and its increase has been steadily augmenting until it has attained at the present time a daily circulation of no less than four thousand copies, which is more than twice as many as that of any other journal west of the Metropolis of Ontario. Its daily and weekly circulation extends to every village and hamlet in the western peninsula of Ontario. The equipments of the Times establishment, type, presses and furniture embrace all the latest styles and improvements, and its conveniences for book and general jobbing business are not inferior to those of any printing establishment in the country.

The total weekly circulation now amounts to nearly forty thousand copies, and is still rapidly increasing, thus furnishing an admirable medium to business men for advertising.

The Messenger.—This periodical was established in 1865, and is issued on the 1st and 15th of each month. It is devoted to the advocacy of the Temperance cause, and contains reports from all parts of the Temperance field. J. W. Fergusson, M. D., Editor. Terms, 75 cents per annum. Address drawer 69, Hamilton.

The Spectator.—(See engraving of Spectator buildings.—The Spectator, which is the leading paper of the city of Hamilton, was first established in 1846, by the late Robert R. Smiley, in the moderate conservative interest, and by the energy and tact of its proprietor, soon became the most popular newspaper in the western peninsula. Its circulation and influence increased rapidly, and at the time of Mr. Smiley's death, in 1855, it was justly regarded as a most successful newspaper enterprise. It then passed into the hands of Mr. John Smiley and Mr. William Gillespy, who conducted it for a short time together. Mr. Smiley retired, in 1857, and his place was taken by Mr. Robertson, the paper continuing to be published by the firm of Gillespy & Robertson, until 1862, when Mr. Gillespy became the sole proprietor. These frequent changes, and the increasing competition of the Toronto papers, affected the position of the Spectator, and it lost somewhat of the prestige it had enjoyed under Mr. Robert Smiley. In 1864, Messrs. T. & R. White, formerly of the Peterborough Review, became its purchasers, and, by a liberal expenditure of money, have restored it to its old popularity. Its circulation has more than quadrupled in their hands, and all through the western counties, especially, the Weekly Spectator enjoys a most extensive circulation, and commands an undoubted influence. Large additions to the establishment have been made by the Messrs. White, the paper was put into new type by them almost immediately after assuming control of it. Their job-room has been greatly enlarged, and refitted with new and large fonts. The establishment enjoys an extensive job printing patronage, which is steadily increasing, and the paper may be said again to have fairly entered into the list of successful newspaper enterprises.

Its medical management has recently undergone important reforms, so that it is now one of the best conducted and most efficient of hospitals in the Province. It is open to all medical students and practitioners, at the usual visiting hours, free of charge. The hospital is supported by grants from the Provincial Government, the Great Western Railway, and by city taxation; and its financial management is confided to a committee appointed by the City Council. ### SEWING MACHINE MANUFACTURING.

In the year 1860, Messrs. R. M. Wanzer & Co. located themselves in the city of Hamilton, Ont., and established the Sewing Machine business, employing the means and best mechanical talent possible, with a determination to surmount all obstacles in the way of producing a first-class machine, such as the masses require; since which they have ever labored to effect that object, and now can say with good grace that they are masters of the Sewing Machine business, having recently received the highest reward from the great juries of the World's Exhibition held in Paris, France, in 1867, who awarded to the Wanzer Company the first and highest prize medal for the best Family Sewing Machine in the world. Eighty seven manufactories were represented from the different parts of the globe. Messrs. Wanzer & Co. gained the victory over all for family machines. After receiving this flattering testimonial, it might be surmised that the Company would stop improving, but such is not the case. They have lately improved their Heavy Manufacturing Machine by making it almost entirely noiseless. That, with its perfect operation makes it now the most complete and reliable heavy manufacturing machine in the market. The Company have also produced a new Family Shuttle Machine that works by the hand or foot. It is the most perfect piece of mechanism ever produced for a Sewing Machine. It is compact and reliable, and offered at a price

HOOP SKIRT MANUFACTORY.

Messrs. G. D. Hawkins & Co., have been established in Hamilton since 1862. Twenty-five hands are kept employed, chiefly women. There are a variety of processes necessary to convert the rough unpolished wire into the graceful and elastic hoop-skirt: the round wire is first drawn through polished steel rollers by which it is flattened out; it is then passed through a furnace of molten lead into oil, and, thus hardened, it is again drawn through molten lead, which reduces it to the temper or elasticity required to make it fit for covering. The braiders for covering are of the most ingenious character. Sixteen spools revolve round the wire, passing and winding about it in the most curious manner, with extraordinary rapidity, and with perfect harmony. One of the small machines will cover about three hundred and fifty yards daily; but as each lady's skirt contains from fifty to one hundred yards of steel, it takes a large number of these machines to carry on a business. The steel, when covered, is then passed through a composition like paint, on to cylinders heated by steam, which gives it a fine gloss, after which it is taken in hand by the shirt-maker, who weaves it through tapes fitted to forms for the purpose, and after passing through about half a dozen hands in the various processes of finishing, it is ready for sale.

Mr. C. L. THOMAS,

Dear Sir.—It affords me the greatest pleasure to bear testimony to the excellence of the Piano-Fortes of your manufacture. ## CARD CLOTHING.

Has been manufactured in Ancaster since 1863 by Eyre Thuresson, Esq., and in establishing this, an entirely new business in this country, Mr. Thuresson had many difficulties to overcome, not the least of which was the procuring of suitable leather for card clothing purposes. He purchased the best leather manufactured in Canada, and after using hemlock tanned leather for four years, came to the conclusion that it was impossible to manufacture a first class card with such material, therefore, determined, although at considerable expense, to use no other than English oak tanned leather, which he is now using to advantage. — Mr. Thuresson being the pioneer in this important branch of manufactures is no doubt, desirous of furnishing to the trade an article that cannot be excelled. The selection of stock is made a matter of special importance, as the durability of the card depends entirely on its quality.

MR. E. THURESSON'S CARD CLOTHING FACTORY.

Mr. Thuresson has now at work thirty-eight machines, including Horse Card, Diamond point, Sheet, Fillet and Doffer ring machines. The last named machine possesses a new and attractive interest. Hitherto Doffer rings have been made with a  $\frac{5}{8}$  inch joint, then pricked and finished by hand, which was, at the best, a very inferior and unseemly finish. The ring is now pieced with a joint  $1\frac{1}{2}$  inch long, and finished in the machine in a highly superior manner, the advantages of which will be self evident to those who use such articles. They are made of all widths with fractional variations.

Diamond point, or angular wire is now mostly used for Tumblers, Leader-ins, and Feeders. These articles are supplied in any quantity at short notice.

The Diamond point and the Doffer ring machines are the only two articles of the kind in British America. The power used is water, and twelve hands are constantly employed. One hundred and twenty-five sides of the best English oak tanned leather is used weekly.

The following points, per square foot, have been generally adopted by manufacturers for all ordinary carding purposes, and, unless otherwise ordered, will be filled accordingly:—

No. of wire.	Points in a square foot.

30 .....	41,472
32 .....	48,384
33 .....	55,296
34 .....	62,208
35 .....	69,120
36 .....	76,032

With the enlarged facilities now possessed, Mr. Thuresson manufactures all the varieties of cards required for cotton and woolen works, including sheets from 24 to 64 inches long; common filleting in any lengths ordered; diamond point, long, short, or medium cut fancy. Napier sheets of galvanized zinc, Doffer rings, Hand wool cards, Cleaners, &c.

The best English and American machines have been imported for making these cards, besides what are being made at Ancaster for future use; and the most competent workmen, which liberal payment can secure, are employed to attend them.

TOWN OF DUNDAS,

An Incorporated Town, in the township of West Flamboro', and county of Wentworth, situated at the head of the Desjardins canal, and on the line of the Great Western Railway, five miles from Hamilton, 79 from London, 44 from Toronto, and 49 from Suspension Bridge. It has daily mails, with money order office. Dundas is increasing annually in the importance and number of its manufacturing establishments. Many of these are propelled by water power exclusively, while some use water and steam power—especially the larger works. One of the most important establishments is the.

DUNDAS COTTON FACTORY.—These large Cotton Works were established in 1859, and are now carried on by Messrs. Young, Law & Co.

These works have at present 108 looms working and 7,000 spindles. The weekly productions are 25,000 yards grey cotton cloth, 6,000 lbs. cotton yarn, and a total weekly production of 12,000 lbs., and from 1,600 to 2,000 seamless bags. The machinery and equipments are of the very best finish and character that could be obtained in England or the United States, combining every modern improvement.

The factory is of white brick, 240 feet in length, of handsome structure and design, from  $2\frac{1}{2}$  to  $4\frac{1}{2}$  stories high, slated roof, with iron window sills and heads, with isolated fire-proof engine and boiler houses attached. Complete Gas Works, building and apparatus adjoining the factory.— Comfortable two-story red brick dwelling house and premises, with business office attached, fire-proof vaults, &c. Large white brick warehouses nearly fire-proof, stabling and premises.

The works are driven by a water-wheel equal to 40 horse power, and two steam engines of 80 horse power, constructed by Messrs. John Gartshore & Son, to save fuel, being high pressure (exhausting into condensing) engines, using the same steam over again. The premises and machinery are, in every respect, complete, and in perfect order and repair. About two hundred hands are constantly employed.

COTTON BATTING.—Joseph Webster, Esq., is engaged in the manufacture of cotton batting, employing twelve hands. The factory is built of frame, 2 stories high, and 40 x 32 feet, steam and water power are both employed.

Billington, Esq., the Treasurer and Manager of the Company, who deserves a great deal of credit for the introduction of an undertaking of so much magnitude in Canada, there being but a very few successful establishments of the kind in the world, and this the only one in British America. The company has a commodious brick building, four stories in height, with a rear building two stories, the whole being 50 feet front by 100 feet in depth. During the past year several extensive additions have been made in buildings and machinery; the machinery is of the most beautiful description and has been made on the premises from original drawings. The works now have the capacity of turning out about two thousand gross per diem and give constant employment to fifty hands.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.—A very large business, employing about thirty hands, is carried on in this branch by John Forsyth, Esq., The works were established in 1855. ## HEALTH, COMFORT & ECONOMY.

The Subscriber begs to call the attention of the public generally to a
NEW invention called

NORTH'S PATENT DRUM HEATER.

For which letters patent were issued on the 10th day of April, 1863, and feels fully satisfied that any parties who may see fit to give it a trial will find it greatly to their advantage, in a pecuniary point of view, as it will Effect a Saving of Half the usual quantity of Fuel, and add materially to their Comfort.

For this admirable invention, the Patentee received the Diploma of the Provincial Association for the said Drum Heater, when exhibited at the Exhibition held at Hamilton, on September 26th, 1864: and since that period many orders have been received from the adjoining counties and towns, as the Heater can be applied with equal advantage and service to stoves where coal is burned as well as wood.

HEALTH, COMFORT AND ECONOMY !

The following Certificates, from parties who have the Drums in use, will serve to explain their working, and the results achieved :—

*Great Western Railway,

Hamilton, May 2, 1867.

Messrs. S. North & Co.,

Gentlemen,—After an experience of upwards of two years I can confidently bear testimony to the efficiency of your Patent Heater as attached to the ordinary stoves of the country; I have had it largely introduced in the stations and offices of this railway and intend to apply still farther during the ensuing fall. The effect of your Heater is to increase very materially the heating power of any stove and to diminish the consumption of fuel at least one-half.

Yours truly,

GEO. LOWE REID,
Chief Engineer.

Hamilton, May 18, 1867.

For three months past I have used one of Mr. Forth's Patent Drum Heaters. The heat it saves effects a great saving of fuel, while the uniformity with which every part of a room is heated is another recommendation in its favor. To have, by its means, a room sufficiently heated it is unnecessary to heat the stove to red heat, thereby injuring the air near the stove, while the remote parts of the room have to be heated by radiation, for it creates a current whereby all the air in the room is raised to the degree required—uniform heat in all parts of the room, comfort and enjoyment are the results—at no additional expense. I recommend the "Heater" to those to whom a smaller bill for fuel is an object of any consideration.

ARCH. MACALLUM, M. A.,
Prin. Central School,
Hamilton.

Hamilton, March 7, 1867.

I have used the North Heater in my house for some time past and find it saves nearly, if not altogether, one-half the fuel, besides increasing the heat very materially.

JOSEPH LISTER.

They can also be seen at the Northern or Great Western Railway Stations.

Many other certificates could be given if necessary. All those who have the Drums in use, or have seen them working, feel perfectly satisfied, and are duo in their praise. They are also well adapted for Hot-Air Furnaces, as they will give at least one-third more heat from the same quantity of fuel.

They are peculiarly adapted for Churches, Schools, Halls, &c. Their effects are quickly felt in a more striking manner in large rooms that have been found difficult to heat without a very large amount of fuel. They can be used on every description of stove, cooking as well as others, and the sizes are adapted to rooms in which they may be required.

Rights to manufacture the Heater for Counties or Townships will be sold on reasonable terms, for which, apply to SAMUEL NORTH, or W. B. ADAMS. Address: Box 540, Hamilton, Ont.

Price from $5 and upwards, according to size; the price of course depending upon the size and quality of the material used, and whether of a highly ornamental or plain character.

Parties that are desirous of heating their buildings by hot-air—for which this Drum is adapted—should see this Heater, as it is decidedly the best and most economical one yet invented. The subscriber will be happy to furnish specifications and prices to any parties who will favor him with their address, stating the amount of heat required, &c.
